

GalaxE.Solutions CEO Addresses Michigan Emerging in Opening Keynote

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 1, 2011 — GalaxE.Solutions Chairman and President Tim Bryan provided the opening keynote for the Michigan Emerging conference, hosted at Cobo Conference and Exhibition Center on November 14, 2011.

The address, titled "Outsource to Detroit," focused on GalaxE.Solutions' business model, which positions Detroit as a true, viable alternative for the next-generation of high-level IT, as opposed to sending IT work offshore. As the need for IT solutions becomes more sophisticated, on-shoring in Detroit helps ensure cost, and importantly, quality benefits and innovation, while repatriating jobs to the United States.

Arriving in Campus Martius in April 2010, GalaxE.Solutions is hiring 500 skilled IT workers in downtown Detroit. To date, more than 130 have been hired with immediate openings for 200 additional professionals – well ahead of original estimates and a sign that the "Outsource to Detroit" model is successful and growing with companies nationwide.

Michigan Emerging is a comprehensive, non-political, cross-industry, statewide annual event spotlighting the initiatives of universities, corporations and individuals. The goal of the conference is to aid in the development of a more diverse, robust and competitive Michigan – as well as help create jobs, jump start new careers and recognize incredible talent in the state – by bringing together the resources needed to highlight and facilitate the change necessary to create great wealth and industry.
